Press Release
Full Moon Racing on a Half Moon Night

By Kristina Sanborn and Cody Sanborn

Tilton, NH (June 10, 2011) Super Dave Sanborn had a good and bad night, all rolled into one. The night had the feel of a full moon when it was only a half moon lighting the sky.

Sanborn started the heat race in 6th, where he was passing cars on the outside, when he would take over the lead position, a caution would come out causing Sanborn to go back to his previous position. When the green flag came out, Sanborn once again took the lead, then another caution, then back to his previous spot. When the green flag fell again Sanborn would end up rolling across the stripe in 1st, for yet another heat race victory.

However, the feature was where the full moon came into play. Sanborn started 8th and would begin to make his way up, yet after a late race restart, two lead cars came into contact with each other, sending the inside car sliding into the grass, where the car picked up speed. The sliding car hit Sanborn's left front wheel sending Sanborn into the wall, destroying most of the front end. This would bring about the team's first DNF in several years.

Super Dave walked away without any injuries. He would later say, "It was a tough out come for the night, but if you are going to do this for any length of time, it's going to happen. It was just one of those racing accidents that couldn't be avoided." He plans to have the car ready for his next race, Friday June 17th, where, if history repeats itself, you will find him in Victory Lane.
